

KYOGLE MAYOR ATTACKED BY A YOWIE AT WOODENBONG!!!!

On Saturday 26th April 2014, Danielle Mulholland, Mayor of Kyogle NSW was attacked by a Yowie at Woodenbong Yowie Country Market while 6th Birthday celebrations were under way. Bystander Jim Grasby of WAG tried to pull her free. Danielle is reported to have escaped unscathed and will be able to resume her duties at Council.

Fun was the flavour of the day. Great workshops and demonstrations, in funny hats face-painted children were seen everywhere, banners flew and stalls dressed to suit the Birthday theme and a good variety of stalls there were. A beautiful day and the sun kept the mood happy and the live music brightened up every ones spirit.

11 happy winners of the stall cash vouchers and gifts that were up for grabs and the raffle winner of the 'Dinner for 2' at the Woodenbong Hotel was M. Martin and the winner of Max Melville's timber box was G. George.

The Woodenbong Yowie Country Market Community Committee would like to thank Kyogle Shire, all visitors and the stallholders who have supported the market events over this period and hope to see you return soon. A special thanks to the Mayor for being a great sport and giving support to our local event.

Article and Photo: Joyce Marsh. Woodenbong Correspondent.